IN THE FOOTBALL WORLD.

COLUMBIA WARSITY CANDIDATES UNDER PACULTY RESTRICTIONS. Year That Several Crack Players, Including

Centre Rush Wright and Half Back Morley. Hay Be Declared Ineligible—Harvard Players Injured, One Badly-News and Gossip. There is a stir in Columbia football affairs.

The rules and requirements drawn up by the Faculty Athletic Committee, composed of Prof. J. F. Kemp, chairman: Prof. F. R. Hutton, Prof. E. Woodbury and Dr. W. L. Savage, are to be enforced to the letter with the result that several crack players who have been expected to wear arsity uniforms will be compelled either to stop training or leave college. The authorities at Columbia are determined that football this year and in future shall be kept pure, especially n view of the scandal that was made public last winter. Then it will be remembered the fact was disclosed that several star members of last year's Columbia eleven were not students of the university in good standing, but had been virtually hired to play because of the lack of good material. This exposure resulted in the withdrawal from college of the young man who had nerve enough to get up a 'Varsity team and set football a-rolling. It also had the effect of opening the eyes of other colleges with which Columbia wishes to play year in and year out. It was also a black eye for college sport, which had come to be regarded as the finest outdoor pastime in America. In order to set Columbia right in the eyes of the college world, therefore, the Faculty Athletic Committee, after much deliberation, concluded to put into effect rules so rigid in concluded to put into effect rules so rigid in quality that further offences of this kind would be impossible.

Every player who has turned in his name to Coach Sanford and Manager Shoemaker this year has been compelled to fill out the following registration blank.

1. Are you an amateur, i. e. (a) Have you received, or been promised, for participation in an athletic competition a stake, money prize, a share of entrance fee or of admission money? (b) Have you taught or engaged in athletics for a livelihood? (c) Have you received, or been promised, for taking part in athletics, from any source, money in excess of the dillecence between your regular college expenses and those incurred by engaging in athletics?

2. Are you regularly attending, and do you purpose so to attend, the courses for which you are registered?

If a special student: (a) Are you taking courses unting to fifteen hours a week? (b) Have you in the university one year? (c) Have you passed examinations in all your last year's courses? d. Hiave you passed a physical examination this to year, satisfactory to the director of the gym-

Sign.)

6. Have you represented any college or university any intercollegiate contest. If so, state college olumbia is meant here as well as others, and the lege years in which said contest or contests took cliege years in which said contest or contests took place.

Many of the students say that these questions, if the answers of each candidate are treated strictly, will make it impossible to get out any eleven at all. On the campus yesterday it was common talk that the new rules, if enforced to the letter, would bar Centre Rush Jack Wright, who was the best snap back in the colleges last year, Half Back William Morley, another star, together with Boebm, Ache. Holman, Romig, Rogers and other promising men E. Wright is in the law school and has been there three years already. He has one condition in his studies, and for this reason the Faculty Athletic Committee would take him out of the eleven. In such an event the 'Varsity would be so seriously weakened that it would be unable to make a respectable showing against will show a little leniency, as Wright went to Columbia to study law at a time when football was not thought of.

Morley, who was one of the crack half backs of the country last fall, is a special student. There seems to be some doubt about his eligibility in the minds of a few, but Morley himself says his case comes within the requirements, while Dr. Savage says that as Morley has already played one year at Columbia he will be all right. Holman, a Western player who looks to be a fast half back, will be debarred under the special student rule. Boehm and Ache, both students in good standing, have recitations during the time usually devoted to football and cannot have them changed it seems. Rowing will be kept out too, under the special st ident rule, and for that matter it is believed that if he could play his amateur standing might be looked into. Rogers is already considered out of it, and the same may be said of Owen and others. As far as Murphy, the big centre and guard, is concerned he is said to be eligible and will play. A Sun reporter interviewed Dr. Savage last night and the latter said:

"The faculty intends to enforce the rules to the letter. We feel that the good name of Columbia is at stake and that purity in athletics is much more important than victory. There is no reason why Columbia should not have is much more important than victory. There is no reason why Columbia should not have first-class football material, with more than three thousand students attending the university. There should be no necessity to call in outsiders or half students as was the case last year. All of us want to see a crack eleven in the field, but it must be made up of students in good standing who come up to the re-quirements of the faculty. I'll admit that triet enforcement of the rules in the case of vight would be a hardship for the eleven out that is a matter that the Faculty Athletic ommittee will attend to with due with the rules of the control of the rules of Committee will attend to with due publicity.

As I look at it Morley will not be molested as be attended the university last year. But those who have been brought up here simply to play football will be ruled out beyond the question of doubt.

who have been brought up here simply to play football will be ruled out beyond the question of doubt."

Manager W. B. Shoemaker of the 'Varsity eleven had a long interview with Prof. Kemp, chairman of the Faculty Athletic Committee, last night. When the confab was concluded Shoemaker looked blue and refused to say a word. Coach Sanford was also inclined to be despondent, but he would not talk. It was said that Prof. Kemp's views differed greatly from those of D. R. Savage in regard to Wright and Morley. It was common talk around the 'Varsity football headquarters that the faculty in its commendable attempt to purify the sport at Columbia had overstepped the bounds of reason, that unless concessions were made the eleven would be wrecked. It was also stated that players who have been pronounced eligible have been discouraged from playing football by their instructors. As one student put it:

"If a man is low in his studies the faculty wontlet him play: If a man is high in his studies he is advised to keep away from the gridiron and if some good players don't care to leave their studies I know of instructors who urge them to don uniforms. It's a funny mix-up."

One of the best football players at Columbia is a man named Sykes. He is a second year man in the law school and stands at the head of his class. Sykes comes from a college down in Maine and is a crack end rush and quarter back. So far he has refused to try for the Varsity, in spite of the coaxing of Sanford and others, because his instructors have advised aim to stick to his studies. Yesterday, while the practice was going on Sanford spied Sykes mong the onlookers.

"Why wont you play?" asked the head coach among the onlookers.

"Why wont you play?" asked the head coach

arong the onlookers,
"Why wont you play?" asked the head coach
o'Sykes.
"I don't know the signals," was the reply.
"And then, too, I've got to study!"
Bosh! said Sanford. "Here, Morley, take hold of this man and don't leave him until he hasconsented to play."
Skes smiled modestly and went off to talk it over with Morley. So it can be readily apprecated that Sanford is having a hard time to mount the candidates into a first-class eleven.
"I beally don't know who will be allowed to play and who will be debarred," eaid the coach last light. The Faculty Athletic Committee will look over the registration blanks at once and a tecision will be handed down without delay. Meanwhile the under graduates are worrying guite a bit.

Yesteday's practice at the Columbia College field was particularly vigorous despite the warm almosohere, which made the men perspire freely. Half Back Morley made his first appearance of the season. He did not put on a uniform, though he looked fit to jump into the scritimage without delay. Instead he coached the "second scrub," composed of the rawest kind of material. The field, which is only seconty-five yards long, was chalked off and a same was played late in the day. Half Back harold Weekes, who bids fair to be the most separational football player of the year, showed that he has very nearly struck his gait. Be is much beavier than last year and is fairer than ever. He made two touchdowns agains, the first scrub, while his side year and is faster than ever. He made two touchdowns agains, the first scrub, while his side partner, Berrie, also in good trim, made a similar number. Little Ashley kloked another pretty goal frog, the 30-yard line and showed improved activity in the mix-ups. He is getting better ever! day and seems sure of some place in the resular eleven. Sanford is particularly exercises about the ends. He cannot find men who are able to satisfactorily fill the places left vacant by Slocovitch and Neidlinger, last year's players. But if Sykes comes out and "Pink" Adams, the former Vale runner, can get into form they may fill the bill.

Concelius C. Cuylet of the Graduate Advisory Committee of Princeton said yesterday that the only matter that has had any bearing on the probability of the Yale-Princeton football game being (Mayed in New York had to do with stands for spectators. As arrangements are now under way Wiereby it is confidently active to the big game on Nov. 17 there is little doubt that the Blue and Orange and Black will play at Pincteon.
"Contractors have been consulted," said Mr. Cuyler yesterday, "and they think they out surely have the stands ready by Nov. 17.
We will start in to build permanent stands.

In 1898 we had temporary stands on Brokaw Field, which cost $7,0.0, and these were removed after the game. If the permanent stands cannot be entirely completed in time for the game, such of them as can be will be put up and sufficient extra accommodation provided to seat the spectators. All that is now needed is a guarantee from the contractors that they can have the stands ready. They think they can do this with a week to spare, so it is almost settled that the game will take place at Princeton."

Princeton.

Princeton, Oct. 2.—"No regular line-up or scrimmage with the second team on the days preceding the match games," is the rule laid down by Trainer Jim Robinson for the Tigers this fall. Accordingly the contests with Stevens Institute to-morrow, which will be the first one of the seaton for Princeton, necessitated the removal of all rough parts from the practice at University Field this afternoon and the time was taken up in running down punts and signal drill. McCord's knee was found to be strong enough to allow him to begin the game at tackle to-morrow and DeWitt may also get a chance at guard. Ralph Davis, the Andover man, appeared in his uniform for the first time and was put at tackle on the scrub. Hutchinson, the old quarter back, returned to college today, but it is not known whether the faculty will permit him to play.

ITHACA, Oct. 2.—Cornell indulged in very light practice to-day, the 'Varsity simply ran ran through signals but a scrub eleven was formed which had a short line-rup. Cornell plays the University of Rocheste to-morrow, and as the game is not expected to be a hard one Cornell will probably put in a complete second team. Voris was tried at centre to-day and will probably play to-morrow. Burns will also get a trial at tackle and Hull will probably take Toohill's place at left end. Alexander is gradually working himself into condition to play and to-day ran through signals for twenty minutes and then took a hard run. Brewster was used as quarter back on the scrub team and handled the ball in the shape. It is likely that he will be allowed to try his hand to-morrow. Coffin was the only man of the 'Varsity squad in the line-up and he too, will line up to-morrow. Capt. Starbuck continues to punt for a long time every night, and his line up to morrow. Capt. Starbuck continues to punt for a long time every night, and his leg will probably make itself felt when he gets back into the game again.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct, 2.—The scrub scored on the Var-lity to-day. It was through no fluke, but by straight football through to the field on a kick-off, Kennedy and Kalernmenck playing a star game. The ball was then kicked, but the scrub got it again on downs and then for thirty yards Keonedy and Bader alternately hammered theline, gaining steadily and scoring finally. The practice was the most valuable that Pennsylvania has had because the ball was in possession of the scrub more than half the time. The defensive work of the Varsity was not brilliant and Coach Woodruff can now see their faults in this part of the game. The line is strong and heavy and the back field is fast and weighty, but they could not keep the scrub from gaining consistently. J. Gardiner's shoulder was injured during the game, but not seriously. Tomorrow afternoon Pennsylvania will line up against John Outland's lambs from Franklin and Marshall. Woodruff will let all his men have a chance to show what they can do Graves will be put in at quarter back and he will probably do the kicking.

Graves will be put in at quarter back and he will probably do the kicking.

Cambridge, Oct. 2.—The Harvard 'Varsity eleven is on the mend. It finally succeeded in getting together to-day strong enough to score three touchdowns against the third eleven in two fifteen-minute halves. But it took the hardest kind of fighting to win, and as a result of the fierce practice game there occurred the first injuries of the season, two of a very serious nature. J. W. Halowell, right end on the 'Varsity during the past two years, sprained his ankle so that he will be out of the game for three weeks. C. H. Howe, '04, a line man, broke the bones of his right leg just above the ankle. He was taken to the Cambridge Hospital and will probably never play football again. Roberts, the centre on the third eleven, turned an ankle and Kerm was slightly injured in the chest. They will both be able to play again in a few days. The work to-day began with some of the old preliminary tarkling of the dummy and falling on the bull. Then all the men caucht easy punts. On the 'Varsity field later the backs however, continued their bad fumbling of punts. The kicking improved slightly, Kernan getting the greater distance. Several noteworthy changes were made in the line-up of the 'Varsity when it faced the third. Bigs was at guard and Gravdon was converted from a tackle into a back. The former made by holes in the line, through which the latter made good gains. In the second half Whitwell, who played so well at guard on the third Monday, was tried at tackle and his work was again full of snap and promise.

at Morris Park opened in the presence of nearly 10,000 patrons. Visitors basked in an atmosphere suggestive of Indian summer, and although the entries were somewhat weak numerically, the presence of thoroughbreds of purest type and breeding lent an amount of prestige to the sport rarely found elsewhere. The main attraction was the Second Matron one of the richest and most important produce stakes on the American calendar. Sixty royally bred two-year-olds were on the eligible list but only eight appeared on the programme. S. C. Hildreth sent along his speedy pair of colts, Beau Gallant and Telamon. James R. Keene pinned his faith to Commando, the hitherto unbeaten son of Domino. Newton Bennington stayed in with his Belvidere youngster Bellario. John F. Schorr thought his Esher filly Lady Schorr good enough to take a chance, R. T. Wilson, Jr., named the Parader, and W. Showalter latrusted his colors to the handsome Tremont filly Ashes. W. C. They will cover the field on the east, west and north sides, and will have a seating capacity of 12,005. THREE-YEAR-OLD FILLY TROTS THE SECOND HEAT IN 9:10 3-4. The Daughter of Moke and Hettle Chase Sets

LEXINGTON, Oct. 2.-This was the opening washing St. Louis. The results: day of the great fall meeting of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association. The weather was clear and warm, the track fast and attendance 5,000. There were three races carded, and when the first heat was called the prospective starters in each had received their final preparation and all were in fine fettle. The interest centred in the $16,000 Futurity Stake, for three-year-old trotters, in which were entered the pick of this division of the were entered the pick of this division of the year. In the betting L. V. Harkness's Fereno, the fast daughter of Moko and Hettie Chase, was a decided favorite over the field. She won the two-year-old Futurity last year, and, coming down the big circuit had made a creditable showing, reducing her record to 2:154. When the horses came on the track at 12:30 o'clock Benyon warmed the little mare up, and the speculators liked her all the better. She not only won, but made a new record for herself and the race, trotting the second heat herself and the race, trotting the second heat in 2:10%, three-quarters of a second faster than the mark made by Lawson's great colt in 2:10½, three-quarters of a second faster than the mark made by Lawson's great colt Boralma, winner of the race last year.

Fereno sold at 5 to 2 over her field. There was nothing in it that could make her step out except Susie J., another Lexington mare. The latter was close up in the first two heats, but the pace was killing. In the third heat Lady Thisbe, a good little black filly, from Marcus Daly's Bitter Root Ranch in Montana, made a bid for the leadership, but she could not reach it. The victory was a decidedly popular one. The filly was proudly led away wearing a floral blanket.

The Tennessee Stake, for pacers, brought out nine members of the 2:00 class. Connor, the fast black gelding from Albany, had ruled a strong favorite in the over-night pooling and the morning had brought out nothing stronger. In the book betting he opened at even money for the tirst heat. The Admiral took the lead at the lirst turn, with Major Muscovite second and Connor third. There was no change until the far turn was reached. Here Connor went around the Major, and passing the three-quarters he took the measure of the Admiral and easily beat him to the wire. There was good play on the Admiral at 2 to 1 for second place. The anti-hopple rule was enforced and the hunch of sidewheelers presented a clean appearance. Bonnie Direct was distanced in the heat.

For the second heat Connor's price was 3 to 10, and even at these figures there was good play. Connor won as he pleased by three lengths from Will Leyburn. For the third heat there was little speculation. Johnny again warmed up in the previous beats and led him by a head at the quarter, with Will Leyburn lose up. It was a battle between these three to the three-quarter pole, where Fanny Dillard displaced Johnny Agan. Turning into the stretch Leyburn and Dillard went at Connor so flercely as to force him to a break. He settled quickly, but in an instant was into the air again, running half way down the stretch Leyburn and Dillard went at Connor so flercely as to force him to b

Reader Warner's arm is mending slowly. The Brooklyns will play a short series with the Pittsburgs for a trophy immediately after the race ends. The players will pocket the receipts. There is trouble in the New York team. Manager Davis has been fining his men for misplays lately, and in retalliation the players have voted Davis out of the trip to Cuba with the Brooklyns after the season

LONG DENIES CHARGES.

The Quarter-Mile Running Champion Says

He Paid His Own Expenses at Columbia. The charge of professionalism against Maxwell W. Long, made at the meeting of General Alumni Association of Columbia University, and published exclusively in THE SUN of yesterday, was the subject for much discussion in athletic circles, in view of the fact that the great sprinter is scheduled to attempt to break the world's quarter-mile straightaway record to-morrow. The general idea was that the opposition to Long was ill-timed and that there is little chance of any encroachment of the rules being proved against the champion, who has always been regarded as one of the squarest amateurs on the path. Long had just finished a trial spin yesterday on the Travers Island track in preparation for his record-breaking effort when a reporter of HE Sun asked him if there was any truth in the statement that his expenses at Columbia ad been paid, presumably because of his ath-sic ability.

The Sun asked him if there was any truth in the statement that his expenses at Columbia had been paid, presumably because of his athletic ability.

"That is not so at all," said the champion.
"I never heard of such charges having been made before and do not know Mr. Bangs, who is said to be responsible for all these inquiries. The only reason I can assign for the movement is that I have left Columbia and do not intend to wear the blue and white in competition any more. My relations with the people at the college were pleasant and I know of no other cause for the statements."

"Did you attend the lectures regularly while at college?" queried the reporter.

"Oh, yes, and I was there a full academic year before I competed for Columbia in the intercollegiate contests. Simply because I entered college on Oct. 19, when the time set by the intercollegiate rules is Oct. 15. I could not represent Columbia the following spring, but had to wait until last year. Even then I would not have been allowed to run if I had not kept up my studies, as the faculty was very strict in that regard last year.

"How about the training table?" Long was asked. Did you pay for your meals?

"I did not have my meals at the training table," he replied, "as I lived at my home at Flushing and incurred no other expenses except for tuition, which I paid for. I did not even receive free scholarship.

Friends of Long were bitter against what they called the ingratitude of the men who begrudged him the honor which it was proposed to accord to him on Monday night. The statement that he had earned his greatest reputation while running under colors other than that of Columbia particularly aroused the ire of one partisan, who said:

"What about the intercollegiate championship which Long won last year for Columbia? What about the intercollegiate contest last spring, where, though out of condition, he pluckily wore the blue and white and received beating from a man whom he outclasses?"

When Secretary Sullivan of the A. A. U. was asked if that organizati

No, it concerns the intercollegiate association more than the A. A. U. Anyhow, the facts do not warrant an investigation, it seems to me only another case of a Columbia man making statements which can only injure the college. If any one should make definite charges that Long received money and had his expenses paid for representing Columbia, the A. A. U. will, of course, investigate. The matter of expenses, however, would be a very delicate point to handle as the union is very liberal on that score and allows its clubs rect only to pay trayelling expenses, of its albertal contact. be a very delicate point to handle as the union is very liberal on that score and allows its clubs not only to pay travelling expenses of its athletes, but to maintain training tables. There is nothing to warrant any action on our part, and we are in a poor position to make an inquiry. Columbia University is not a member of the A. A. U. and if asked to produce the books of the athletic managers there would be no way to compel obedience to the request."

INTERNATIONAL ATHLETIC UNION.

A. A. U. Asked to Send Delegates—First Games May Be Heid in Buffalo.

The formation of an international athletic union which was suggested on account of the issatisfaction over the management of the recent world's championship meeting at Paris is now well under way. The scheme is explained in the following letter sent yesterday by Secretary J. E. Sullivan to the members of the Board of Governors of the A. A.

"I have been requested by Bartow S. Weeks to ask you to vote for or against the appointment of delegates to the Union International Athletique. "During the recent championship games held at Paris, representatives from Italy, Greece and other countries called an informal meeting for the purpose of organizing an international association, the idea being to have a uniformal set of rules and have the conditions the same. As a representative of the A. A. U. I was invited to the meeting and attended. It was decided that each representative should go home to his parent body and report, so that the different athletic bodies would be prepared at some future time to do what they thought advisable future time to do what they thought advisable in the matter.

"The following is a copy of a letter which has been received by the A. A. U.:

"SIR AND DEAR COLLEAGUE: At the end of the international athletic meeting of the Exposition a certain number of the French and foreign delegates meeting at the office of the U. S. F. S. A. (Union des Sociétés rrançaises des Sports Athlétiques) considered that it would be necessary to create an international federation of athletic sports, having for its object:

"First To adopt common rules relating to amateurism.

that it would be necessary to create an international federation of atuletic sports, having for its object:

"First To adopt common rules relating to amateurism.

"Second—To bring closer together the athletic clubs of each country by holding at certain periods international congresses and having annual world's championalips.

"I beg you tolet me know whether we can count upon the support of your union, or if we can hope that it will be represented at the meeting which will take place in Parls the last part of October for the purpose of drawing up the statutes (by-laws) of the U. I. A. and of completing its organization. I beg of you besides to please let me know whether it would be better to hold the congress the last part of October or the beginning of November. I beg of you to answer it possible by return mail. Yours, &c.

"PIERRE ROY, Temporary Secretary,
"220 Rue St. Honoré, Parls,
"A promet vote on this bill will be thoroughly appreciated."

Secretary Sullivan said last night that he was confident the vote would favor the A. A. U. joining the new union, as the experiences of the American athletes at Paris indicated the necessity of such an organization. It was the prevailing impression among the athletic representatives of nations other than England and America that four years is entirely too long to clapse between international contests. It is only competitions of such a nature that arouse interest in such countries as Italy, Denmark and Sweden, and the enthusiasts hone to build up a permanent interest in athletics by holding an international meeting in a different country every year. It is the intention of American representatives, in case the union is established, to ask that the first meeting under its auspices take place in connection with the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo.
